

Biography

Lieutenant Governor Katherine L. Davis

Katherine L. Davis was unanimously confirmed the 49th Lieutenant Governor of Indiana in October 2003 by the Indiana General Assembly. She is the first woman to hold the position.

Lt. Governor Davis holds a B.S. in mechanical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a master's degree from Harvard Business School.

She has worked for Cummins, Inc. in Columbus, IN, where she managed assembly and shipping operations; the Indiana Department of Transportation as Deputy Commissioner; served as state budget director; served as secretary for the Indiana Family and Social Services Administration where she was responsible for a $4 billion budget and 11,000 employees; managed the start-up of the Indiana 21st Century Research and Technology Fund, a fund designed to promote technology and economic development; and spent four years as controller for the City of Indianapolis under Mayor Bart Peterson.

As Indiana's lieutenant governor, Lt. Governor Davis serves as president of the Senate, the director of the Indiana Department of Commerce, the commissioner of Agriculture, and the chair of Indiana's Counter Terrorism and Security Council.
